Grant To Establish 4-Year Nursing Program

A $143,060 grant from the Kate B. Reynold's Health Care Trust in Winston-Salem has been awarded to Gardner-Webb College for the establishment of a Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing.

This announcement was made December 14 by Dr. Craven E. Williams, president of Gardner-Webb College. After a year-long feasibility study the need for the Baccalaureate Program was firmly established. Presently, there is no ADN/RN/BSN program in North Carolina. This program will result in the first full professional school for Gardner-Webb.

Gardner-Webb College's nursing program currently offers an Associate Degree in Nursing. The new program will continue the two-year ADN with a two-year course of study leading to a BSN.

"Most of the inquiries have come from registered nurses within a 50-mile radius of the College. They either hold diplomas in nursing or associate degrees and want the BSN," said Shirley Toney, director of the nursing program at Gardner-Webb. She continued, "By 1985, a four year degree may be a requirement for entry into professional nursing. Along with an interest in furthering their education, students are looking for increased salaries, more opportunities for employment, increased skills, and preparation for graduate study. With the 'two plus two' program, registered nurses and other students will be able to obtain a basic education in nursing with an option to continue for the baccalaureate degree. We feel confident that the strong academic program of the College, and the excellent clinical facilities in the area will contribute to a quality program."

A phenomenon which has received much attention is the nursing shortage. In the Southern region, there are only 450 registered nurses per 100,000 population while the national ratio is 550 per 100,000.

"The shortage of RN's has come about by openings of various work opportunities as the military, doctor's offices and industrial nursing that nurses have only been able to explore in the last few years," commented Paul Ellison, director of Cleveland Memorial Hospital.

Ellison said that many RN's are seeking to upgrade their clinical and administrative skills because of increasing demands on their roles to be involved more with budgets, personnel management, government laws and rules and the accreditation of hospital standards.

He cited that Gardner-Webb College's (two plus two) program will provide a re-entry level for nurses who want to obtain a four-year degree.

As more hospitals utilize the team nursing and primary nursing methods of patient care, it will be important to have RN's in leadership roles who can plan and implement comprehensive care for the patient. Several area hospital directors expressed a desire for their head nurses and supervisory personnel to obtain baccalaureate preparation and stated that the BSN would likely be an important qualification for RN's whom they hire for administrative duties.

The Kate B. Reynolds Health Care Trust was created in 1946 through provisions in the will of Mrs. William N. Reynolds for the purpose of improving health care to the people of North Carolina. The trust awards approximately $1.5 million annually in grants to non-profit organizations throughout the state. Its current program interest areas are access to primary health care, alternative delivery systems which offer improved health care and/or economy, and illness prevention/health promotion.

Spanglers Honored With Scholarship Fund

Pat and Eloise Spangler of Shelby, N.C., were honored December 15, at a surprise luncheon at North Lake Country Club. They were presented with The Pat and Eloise Spangler Scholarship Fund at Gardner-Webb College. The fund was started by a few close friends from across the state as an expression of appreciation for many services the Spanglers have rendered to individuals and causes throughout North Carolina.

Mrs. Spangler, the former Eloise Young, has actively served numerous cultural, service, health and community organizations throughout Cleveland County. Her direct services to Gardner-Webb College have been many, and the Spangler Music Scholarship is named in honor of Eloise and Evelyn (Mrs. Earl) Spangler. This is the most prestigious music scholarship at the college with auditions held annually.

Pat Spangler, a native of Shelby, has compiled a life-time record of service to the county and the state. As Chairman of the Shelby Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Commission, he was instrumental in bringing millions of dollars of new industry to the area, including Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Fiber Industries. His record of local achievements and activities includes President of Shelby Chamber of Commerce, Director of First National Bank, Director of United Way. In 1963, he was Shelby's "Man of the Year."

His influence across North Carolina is equally extensive. He has served as a Trustee at Peace College and at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He was appointed by Governor Luther Hodges as a Chairman of United Nations Day for North Carolina and by Governor Terry Sanford to the Advisory Committee of the North Carolina Trade Fair. He has served as a member of the State Banking Commission and served as Vice-Chairman of the State's Construction and Development Board. In 1971, Governor Bob Scott awarded him North Carolina's Distinguished Service Award.

Pat Spangler has served as a Trustee or Corporate Officer of Gardner-Webb College for thirteen years. For eight years he was Chairman of the Board of Trustees; and as National Chairman for two major campaigns he was directly responsible for raising more than $5,000,000 for the College. A dormitory at the College was named in his honor, and he, along with his brother Earl, built the football stadium and track at the College in honor of their father, Ernest W. Spangler.

Pat and Eloise Spangler have five children Lynn, Jane, Jean, Penny, and Pat, Jr.

G-W SCHOLARSHIPS

Pat Spangler, second from right, and his wife, Eloise Spangler, receive commemorative items from Dr. Craven Williams, president of Gardner-Webb College, and Hargrove 'Skipper' Bowles, a friend of the Spanglers, Tuesday, December 15, at a surprise luncheon held in their honor to announce the establishment of a scholarship fund in their names at Gardner-Webb. The Bureau of Labor Statistics recently released figures projecting the outlook for selected health jobs. Their figures revealed the following:

	Estimated Employment 1978	Growth Rate 1978-1990	Average Annual Opening to 1996
Nursing Occupations
Registered Nurses	1,060,000	49.9%	85,000
Lic. Practical Nurses	518,000	62.2%	60,000
Nursing Aides Orderlies	1,037,000	52%	94,000

These figures, reflecting the needs for individuals in Nursing Occupations between now and 1990, far exceeded occupational needs in any of the other health careers. Thus, it seems most fortunate that Gardner-Webb College is now preparing to expand its Associate Degree Nursing Program by adding a Baccalaureate Degree in Nursing. A grant of $143,060 from the Kate B. Reynolds Health Care Trust in Winston-Salem, N.C., will provide start-up funds for this program expansion.

The associate degree in nursing program is currently in its sixteenth year. It was established through the cooperative efforts of Gardner-Webb College, Cleveland Memorial Hospital in Shelby, and Rutherford Hospital in Rutherfordton. In 1970, the program was accredited by the National League for Nursing and reaccredited in 1978. The program has been accredited by the North Carolina Board of Nursing since its inception.

The new program will call for the development of the upper two years which will more thoroughly prepare nurses for supervisory, leadership roles as members of a health care team. Course schedules and clinical experiences will be designed to accommodate the needs of many practicing RN's in the area who wish to pursue a baccalaureate degree though they may already hold the associate degree or a diploma leading to licensure.

When fully operative the Gardner-Webb program will be the only ADN/RN/BSN program in North Carolina. The advantages this program will offer are several, but a key one is that the graduate will have a marketable skill at the end of two years, thereby enabling the graduate to finance the remainder of his/her education.

In preparing plans for the BSN program at Gardner-Webb College, our Nursing faculty conducted extensive studies and surveys. The components of our program are intended to meet not only the needs of the nursing profession but also the needs of directors of health agencies. There is a major emphasis upon preventing illness and maintaining the highest level of wellness possible.

In the years immediately ahead, nurses must be even more knowledgeable about assessing, planning care and teaching in addition to being able to care for persons with acute problems. We are pleased to have the opportunity at this critical time in the profession to directly address the needs of the nursing profession which ultimately will directly effect the needs of every individual who seeks professional health care.

New Trustees, Officers Elected

Nine new Board of Trustee members, officers and committee chairmen have been elected at Gardner-Webb.

Added to the 36-member Board are J. Wayne Burris, Lincolnton; Mrs. Woodrow (Olna) Daves, Gastonia; Jimmy R. Jacumin, Connelly Springs; Maylon Little, Raleigh; John J. McCulloch, Charlotte; Dr. Timothy Pennell, Winston-Salem; Hobart Smith, Charlotte; Jewell Valentine, Charlotte; and Dr. Tom L. Warren, Hickory.

Officers include Chairman Bernard H. Parker, Raleigh; Vice-Chairman Hobart C. Smith, Charlotte; Secretary Joe Mauney, Shelby; and Treasurer Lloyd Bost, Shelby.

Committee chairmen are Thomas R. Causby, Belmont-Tone and Character Committee; Guy Walker, Jr., Raleigh-Finance Committee; Dr. Ralph Bentley, Statesville-Development Committee; and Barbara Ann Hughes, Raleigh-Curriculum Committee.

All officers and committee chairmen automatically become members of the College's Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees. Others elected to the Executive Committee include Ronald Hawkins, Statesville; Earl Groves, Gastonia; and Dr. Rance Henderson, Morganton.

Amway President To Speak At GWC

Richard M.
Devos

Richard M. DeVos, president of Amway Corporation, will be the featured speaker, February 3, for Gardner-Webb College's Broyhill Academy. The Broyhill Academy has brought such noted figures as Congressman Jack Kemp, co-author of the Kemp-Roth Tax Bill, and Patrick Ross, president of BFGoodrich Tire Company, to the campus to speak on the free enterprise system, which the Broyhill Academy promotes.

DeVos is a resident of Ada, Michigan, where the headquarters are located for Amway Corporation. Amway Corporation is privately held by the DeVos and Van Andel families. It is located on a 300-acre site with more than 2,500,000 square feet under roof and 4,000 employees. Distribution centers are located in eight states.

Amway owns the Mutual Broadcasting System, the world's largest radio network with 950 affiliated and 1,200 non-affiliated radio stations across the country.

DeVos is a well-known speaker, having appeared before thousands of groups from coast to coast. His recorded talk, "Selling America," has received many awards, including the Alexander Hamilton Award for Economic Education from the Freedoms Foundation. He is also author of a book, "BELIEVE!" published by F.H. Revell Publishing Company. A gospel film has also been made of "BELIEVE."

The public is invited to attend the 9:30 a.m. program in Bost Gymnasium on the Gardner-Webb College campus.

"It Is Not Easy To Light A Fire In The Snow"

This past week I talked with a Gardner-Webb friend about a gift by bequest. She struggled with her emotion as she discussed the disposition of her possessions. Suddenly, there was radiance about her and enthusiasm in her voice, "It is not easy to light a fire in the snow" she said. "Years ago," she added, "it was twilight at Christmas and I lit a fire in the snow; I remember that it was beautiful."

After considerable reflection, I think I understand the association of making a bequest and lighting a fire in the snow to give light and warmth to friends.

A general bequest directs that a specified amount of money or a percentage of the estate be paid to Gardner-Webb.

A specific bequest leaves a particular named property, stock or other possession to Gardner-Webb.

A residual bequest directs a portion of assets to Gardner-Webb after specific bequests and expenses have been paid.

To light a fire in the snow is difficult but its beauty warms the heart and its glow lengthens the twilight.

Edgerton Elected Chairman Of Board

John A. Edgerton

Vice-President and Managing Director of WBTV-Charlotte, John A. Edgerton has been elected Chairman of the Board of Advisors at Gardner-Webb College. Jack Mabry of Shelby was elected Vice-Chairman.

Edgerton and Mabry were elected to the Board in 1979 and have served on a number of committees at the College. The members are selected on the basis of their interest in Christian Higher Education.

A 1956 graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in Radio, Television and Motion Pictures, Edgerton has been employed by WBTV in various capacities since 1957.

He is a member of Fort Mill Baptist Church in Fort Mill, S.C., the Voluntary Action Center Board, and the Kinder-Mourn Board, which provides counseling for bereaved parents, the UNC-C Athletic Foundation Board, and the Mecklenburg County Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

A resident of Fort Mill, S.C., he and his wife, Ernestine Parrish Edgerton, have four children: Mrs. Robert G. Kirby; Mrs. Steven Hamilton, Gregory, and Brent.

Mabry is President and Treasurer of Shelby Printing Company, President of Kings Mountain Office Supply and Equipment Company, a partner in Mabry Brothers, and a director of MY, Inc.

He is chairman of the Cleveland County Mental Health Center Board, a member of the State Banking Commission, and a member of the Board of Directors at First Citizens Bank.

He and his wife, Katherine Quinn Mabry, are members of Central United Methodist Church. Mabry has one son

Jack Mabry

Tripp Mabry and four step-children: Mrs. Kathy Burgin, Mrs. Peggy Porter, Mrs. Lynn Roach, and D.W. Royster, III.

The purpose of the Board of Advisors is to aid the present and future programs of Gardner-Webb College by advising the Board of Trustees, the president, and members of the administrative staff.

The advisors serve as interpreters of the College to the community, business and church groups, help Gardner-Webb accomplish its long-term objectives as a Christian liberal arts college, and make recommendations for the betterment of the College.

Members of the Board of Advisors meet semi-annually and serve on either the career planning, student life, or finance/development committees.

Other officers include Secretary Robert J. Arey, Jr., Shelby; Career Placement Chairman Ed Hamilton, Shelby; Finance/Development Chairman Joe E. Cabaniss, Shelby; Student Life Chairman Jack Lutz, Forest City.

Newly-elected advisors are J.R. Dunkley, Shelby; Billy Crews, Cherryville; Dr. Gene R. Swinson, Union, S.C.; Ruby C. McSwain, Sanford, N.C.; J.A. Neisler, Jr., Kings Mountain, N.C.; Mayor Henry Moss, Kings Mountain, N.C.; Hobart (Skip) Smith III, Charlotte, N.C.; R. Claxton Hall, Winston-Salem, N.C.; Tony Izzi, Jr., Shelby; Ronald Harward, Shelby; Dr. Johnny Presson, Shelby; Dr. James B. Petty, Shelby; Ann Heafner Gaither, Lincolnton, N.C.; Mrs. Eva B. Summer, Cherryville, N.C.; Ray E. Summey, Spartanburg, S.C.; L.E. Alford, Belmont, N.C.; and Dr. Robert Cantwell, Lincolnton, N.C.

Those Were The Years

WOW! I searched and searched for a photograph that I didn't think anyone could identify. Finally a former professor at the College presented me with a photograph of the Boiling Springs College Women's Basketball Team of 1929. It wasn't five days after The Web was mailed until I received a letter from Mrs. Lillian Moore, Class of 1929. It just so happened that she could identify all thirteen members of the girls' basketball team. Oh, incidentally, she was the team's captain. Hope you enjoy your coffee cup Mrs. Moore.

This issue, the "Those Were The Years" photo is more recent than the 1929 shot. A GWC coffee mug will be sent to the first person to correctly identify these gents.

Letter To The Editor

December 23, 1981

Dear Mrs. Putnam,

I was looking over my daughter-in-law's December copy of "The Web" and was very surprised to see the Boiling Springs College-Women's Basketball Team of 1929.

Thank you for bringing back some very warm memories.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Lillian Moore

Gardner-Webb Football Players Are Honored

Ralph Warthen

Irvin Jones

Duane Foster

Chuck Dickinson

Five Bulldog football players were named to the District 26 and South Atlantic Conference All-Star Teams for their outstanding play during the 1981 football season. The Bulldogs posted a 5-5 record for 1981, and that is the third best finishing record by a Gardner-Webb team since senior college competition started back in 1970.

Defensive tackle Ralph Warthen, wide receiver Duane Foster, center Chuck Dickinson and running back Jamie Pope (photo unavailable) made the District 26 First Team. Foster and Pope also made the South Atlantic Conference First Team and were joined by specialist Irvin Jones.

Junior wide receiver Duane Foster, from Woodbridge, Va., was outstanding in 1981. The 1981 NAIA Honorable Mention All-American caught 56 passes for 776 yards and 2 touchdowns. Foster's 56 pass receptions is a new Bulldog single season record. Foster has also moved up to the second position on the Bulldog All-Time receiver ladder with 102 career receptions for 1,501 yards and 13 touchdowns. Ken Reid (1970-1973) is the Bulldog All-Time Career Receiving leader with 109 receptions for 1,932 yards and 12 touchdowns.

Junior running back Jamie Pope, from Sherrills Ford, N.C., was truly an all purpose back for the Bulldogs last season. He led the Bulldog backs in rushing with 662 yards. He was the team's second leading pass receiver with 32 receptions for 274 yards. Pope also led the Bulldog team in scoring with a total of 6 touchdowns and one 2-point conversion for a total of 38 points.

Senior defensive tackle Ralph Warthen, from Warthen, Ga., was the Bulldog defensive leader in 1981. The 6-5, 255 pounder led the team in tackles with 77 solos, 37 assists and 8 quarterback sacks. A knee injury in the fifth game slowed Warthen down enough to keep him from repeating as a NAIA All-American like he did in 1980. Warthen did make NAIA Honorable Mention All-American for 1981.

Junior offensive center Chuck Dickinson, from Keystone Heights, Fla., had an outstanding year in the offensive line. The 6-3, 239 pounder was graded by the coaching staff as the top lineman week after week during the 1981 season. The center has the toughest job in that offensive line during a game. He must execute the snap correctly to the quarterback and then must block the noseguard which is usually the best defensive lineman the opponents have.

Freshman return specialist Irvin Jones, from Charlotte, N.C., had an unbelievable year this past season. Jones, also a starting defensive back, accomplished something as a freshman that most players will never do in four years. He returned a punt, a kick-off and an interception for touchdowns. His punt return for a touchdown covered 50 yards and his interception return for a touchdown covered 57 yards. Jones' kick-off return of 100 yards is a Bulldog record.

The 1982 football season looks bright as four of the five honored players will be returning, and head football coach Tom Moore has already signed eight mid-term transfers. The transfer players that coach Moore has signed are: Jim Arndner (6-2, 230 lbs. OT from Western Carolina), Dan Mayo (6-3, 240 lbs. OT from Middle Tennessee), Richard Singleton (6-1, 205 lbs. DB from Georgia), Kippy Daves (5-10, 185 lbs. RB/DB from Georgetown), Jim O'Shea (6-3, 225 lbs. DE from Potomac State Junior College), Richard Houston (6-0, 230 lbs. FB from Potomac State Junior College) and Chip Osborne (6-0, 190 lbs. DB from Lees-McRae Junior College). He also has signed a mid-term freshman, Jay Wall (6-2, 240 lbs. DT). All signees were starters where they attended college, and Jim O'Shea was a first team All-American at Potomac State and Rich Houston was a second team All-American at Potomac State.

The 1982 football schedule is already completed, and the Bulldogs will open up the season on September 4 against Wofford in Spartanburg, S.C. Then its back home for West Virginia Wesleyan on September 11; at Newberry on September 18; Mars Hill at home on September 25; Georgia Southern at home on October 2; at Lenoir-Rhyne on October 9; at home with Catawba on October 16; at Carson-Newman on October 23; at home against Elon on October 30; and at Presbyterian on November 6.

Naming Gardner-Webb In Your Will

Your will is a legally binding but completely amendable document which can guarantee that your most important lifetime decisions and desires will be honored and realized after your death. It is usually a document written and executed—with the vitally important assistance of a competent attorney—in accordance with certain formalities prescribed by state law.

We hope you will decide to include in your will a bequest to Gardner-Webb College, and we would be grateful to hear of your decision. Being able to determine the extent of the testamentary support which we may expect to receive from our friends in future years is of great importance to us and to those we serve.

A monetary bequest to Gardner-Webb is most common. This is simply a direction in your will that Gardner-Webb be paid a specified sum of money. Monetary bequests can pose the difficult problem of being absolute and fixed, while the value of the estate is variable and changes from week to week. You may want to consider whether a bequest of a percentage of your estate is a better expression of your desires than the typical monetary bequest of a fixed amount.

If you wish to restrict your bequest to a specific purpose, please feel free to ask us about the many existing opportunities to make a deeply satisfying, personally planned bequest. For information, complete the following and mail to the Development Office, Gardner-Webb College, Boiling Springs, North Carolina 28017.

Dr. J. Allen Queen, chairman of the Education Department at Gardner-Webb, has been elected to serve as a member of the Executive Council of the N.C. Association of Colleges for Teacher Education. The council serves as a policy-making body for the organization.

Miles Run For World Hunger

Many students, faculty members and administrators at Gardner-Webb College participated in a month long CROP RUN to earn money to stop world hunger.

Runners, which included Gardner-Webb College's President Craven E. Williams with 200 miles and College Minister Richard McBride with 110 miles, encouraged others to pledge a certain amount of money per mile.

CROP, a community fund-raising and educational arm of Church World Service, will receive the major part of the funds with a percent of the funds staying in the local agency.

Money received by CROP will go to assist 50 countries to grow their own food. CROP is educating people about World Hunger and encouraging self-development.

According to CROP statistics, 15,000 deaths a day occur from starvation, and 460 million to 1 billion people in the world lack enough calories to lead a normal life.

Gardner-Webb Senior Picked For All-State Team

Senior Beth Blakely felt 10 feet tall when she was told that she had been picked for the AIAW All-State Volleyball team. Only 12 volleyball players are selected each year onto the All-State Team and this year Blakely received this high honor. "I am very excited about being named to the All-State Team, and this is the most important honor that I have received in any sport," stated Blakely.

"Beth sincerely deserves this high recognition in volleyball because she is a smart thinker, and that combined with her ability and confidence made her an outstanding player in her final season," stated head coach Debbie Richardson.

Blakely, also an outstanding basketball player for the Lady Bulldog basketball team, feels that being on athletic teams at Gardner-Webb has helped her to become more successful as a student. Says Beth, "Sports at G-W have caused me to learn discipline and how to budget my time properly." Blakely has been successful in both athletics and academics as she made the prestigious All-State Volleyball team and graduated from Gardner-Webb this past December with a B average as a business major.

The title of this piece should be:
DON'T LET GEORGE DO IT!

All too often we ARE inclined to sit back and "let George do it". This is NOT the way to reach our goal for the 1981-82 Annual College Fund.

Less than 3% of our alumni contributed to ACF in 1980-81. We must have a larger percentage of participation for true success.

The size of your gift is not THE most important thing. Your participation IS.

Many corporations and foundations ask what percentage of the alumni contributes to the annual fund before they will make a commitment. Their attitude is let your alumni support you, and then we will, too.

So, don't sit back and let George do it. Make a commitment yourself today and support GWC with a gift to the Annual College Fund.

(Remember that your employer may be a matching gift company. Ask in your personnel office for the appropriate form.)
